To put Power Polisher on the Motor Unit . . .

In preparation, raise the motor unit to the top height, position seven, of the Toe-touch Control adjustment. Raise the floodlight cover to expose the nozzle cam lock. Hook the nozzle support over the horizontal shaft on the fan case, directly under the motor shaft. When the nozzle support hooks are properly placed, the lip in the center of the nozzle top will slide under the nozzle latch or cam lock, provided the end of the latch lever rests on the protruding pin located next to it. Lift the handle of the cam off the pin and rotate to the right as far as it will go, pressing the handle of the cam snugly. Turn the name-plate lever until it is vertical and the name "Kirby" is in a readable position.

Position of the belt lifter when belt is driving brush.

Position of the belt lifter when belt is lifted from shaft.

THE BELT LIFTER . . . A steel finger lifts the belt effortlessly when the name-plate cap lever is turned. See the illustrations for positions.

Adjustable Action..

Toe-touch Control governs the intensity of the polishing action . . . from a hard polish to a light finishing touch.

SUGGESTED USES: Linoleum table tops —
Asphalt tile floors — Hard surfaced walls —
Dance floors — Sink covers — Kitchen floors —
